ROZELLA E. JOHNSON

B. A., Indiana University Instructor in History

Miss Johnson rarely smiles, but we all know that she has a rare sense of humor The very fact that she does not accompany them with a smile seems to enrich her witty sayings. Undoubtedly she is a good teacher, for her pupils have worn a path to the library doing research work for "Miss Johnson."

HERBERT C. ROBERTS

B. A., Oberlin. Instructor in Romance Languages.

Mr Roberts is as accomplished in music as he is in languages, for he plays both piano and violin.

LOUISE J FALLS

B. A., Benedict College; Graduate work at University of Pennsylvania, Columbia University Instructor in High School Mathematics.

Miss Falls is one whom the students love because she can make mathematics pleasant and almost easy It is our opinion that anyone who can make mathematics pleasant deserves everybody's love. She is never flustered or hurried, but you may be sure that when she's supposed to be in a certain place at a certain time, she is there.
